About the University

Connecticut Hall, the oldest building on the Yale campus and in New Haven.

Founded in 1701, Yale University is the third oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, and its long tradition of academic excellence firmly ranks Yale among the foremost universities in the world. Originally called the Collegiate School, it was renamed Yale College in 1718 to honor Elihu Yale, a generous benefactor.

Since its first class, which had only one pupil, Yale has expanded into a College with 5,200 undergraduates, and the eleven graduate and professional schools provide instruction for an additional 5,618 advanced students. Women were first admitted to the graduate schools in 1892 and to the College in 1969. Today 43.7 per cent of Yale's enrollment is women. The University's faculties total over 2,000 scholars, many of whom are internationally respected authorities in their fields. Fourteen winners of Nobel Prizes have been associated with Yale.

With twelve Residential Colleges and a vast, multifaceted complex of classrooms, libraries, laboratories and over 500 acres of playing fields, Yale offers its undergraduates the familiarity of a small liberal arts institution with the extensive resources and distinguished faculty of a major university.

Yale's facilities, which include more than 200 buildings, are virtually unparalleled in the world of higher education. The Yale Art Gallery, the oldest college-affiliated art gallery in the country, houses a collection of priceless paintings and sculpture, and the Peabody Museum is one of the nation's leading centers for the study of natural history. With over nine million volumes, the Yale Library is one of the three largest in the United States, and its Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library was built for an additional 800,000.

One of Yale's most distinctive features is its system of twelve Residential Colleges, which function as self-sufficient communities within the larger University and serve as the center of a wide variety of extracurricular activities. Each College brings together students from every social, economic, cultural, religious and educational background, so they help to maintain one of Yale's greatest and most cherished attributes: diversity.

Yale's diversity is further demonstrated by the role of its most famous alumni. President George Bush is a member of Yale College's Class of 1948 and was the captain of its baseball team during his senior year. Two other Yale men, William Howard Taft and Gerald Ford, have also served among the 41 presidents of the United States. In addition, Yale counts among its graduates patriot Nathan Hale, author James Fenimore Cooper, inventor Samuel Morse, composer Cole Porter, Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese, Cabinet Secretary Carla Anderson Hills, and Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Garry Trudeau.

Throughout its history, Yale has been a leader in American higher education, and Yale men founded or first administered forty other colleges and universities, including Princeton, Columbia, Dartmouth, Cornell, Johns Hopkins, the University of Chicago, the University of California and the University of Georgia.

Seventy-five Years at Yale Bowl

The beautiful and historic Yale Bowl celebrates its 75th anniversary this season. This magnificent stadium, opened in 1914 for the Yale-Harvard game, has been the site of 476 college football games and numerous other special events. It is still regarded by experts as the finest facility in the United States from which to watch football.

The structure, which is the second oldest active stadium in the country, is 930 feet long and 750 feet wide, thus covering 12½ acres. More than 320,000 cubic feet of earth had to be moved when the Bowl was constructed, and the stadium now contains 22,000 cubic yards of concrete and 470 tons of steel. There are 70,896 seats for spectators and every one of them has an unobstructed view of the playing field.

The largest crowd to attend a Yale game at the Bowl was 80,000 for Yale's victory over Army in 1923. Attendance of 70,000 or more has been recorded on 20 other occasions, most recently for the 100th playing of The Game between Yale and Harvard on November 19, 1983. The crowd of 75,300 which attended the Yale-Harvard showdown in 1981 was the largest at a sporting event in New England in more than 50 years.

The Bowl has also played host to professional football. The NFL's New York Giants and New York Jets played their historic first game in this stadium in 1969, and the Giants returned to play all of their home games in 1973 and 1974 while Yankee Stadium was being renovated.

The Braintrust

Harold E. Woodsum, Jr. Director of Athletics

Harold E. (Ed) Woodsum, Jr., who assumed the athletic director's position on July 1, 1988, is in the midst of a five-year term as the head of Yale's Department of Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation.

Woodsum succeeded Donald Kagan, the Colgate Professor of History and Classics at Yale, who was named acting director for 1987-88 with the understanding that he would serve until a permanent director was appointed. Professor Kagan assumed the post in July of 1987 when Frank Ryan left after a 10-year stint to become the university's associate vice president for institutional planning.

Woodsum, who has served as a successor trustee of the Yale Corporation for nine years, resigned that post to become athletic director. As a trustee, Woodsum was chairman of the Corporation's Committee on Investor Responsibility, the Building and Grounds Committee, and the Investment Committee. He made a fact-finding trip to South Africa in the summer of 1986 as part of a group of trustees, faculty members and students assessing firsthand the compliance of companies with Yale's ethical investment policy.

As director of athletics, Woodsum oversees one of the most extensive college sports programs in the nation with 35 varsity teams — 18 for men, 17 for women — along with 56 competitive club and intramural sports in which more than half the student body participates.

Woodsum, who graduated from Yale College in 1953 with a B.A. degree in history and from the Yale Law School in 1958, is a senior partner in the Portland, Maine, law firm of Drummond, Woodsum, Plimpton, and MacMahon. As an undergraduate he served as captain of the Yale freshman football team and for three seasons, from 1950 to 1952, played offensive end on the varsity.

In 1952, Woodsum was the leading scorer in the Ivy League and established several Yale records that stood until the 1970s. Those marks included receiving yards in one game (160 vs. Brown), most receptions in one season (40), most yards gained on receptions (634), and most touchdown passes caught (11) in a season. His three touchdown catches in a game, which Woodsum did against both Brown and Harvard in 1952, is a standard which three players share.

Woodsum is currently ranked fifth on the all-time Yale career receiving list, seventh on the all-time receiving list for a season, and tied for sixth on the all-time season scoring list.

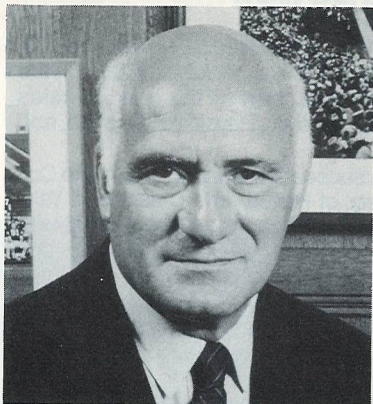

In 1955, following a two-year hitch in the Army, Woodsum was selected by the Chicago Cardinals in the 11th round of the National Football League draft. He left pre-season training camp to enter Yale Law School.

Active in local and national civic affairs, Woodsum serves as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Audubon Society and the Maine Coast Heritage Trust; a director of the Quebec-Labrador Foundation, Inc.; a trustee of Westbrook College in Portland; and a director of the Wendell Gilley Museum of Bird Carving in Southwest Harbor, Maine.

Previously, Woodsum was a trustee of the Portland Symphony Orchestra and for two years served as its president. For eight years he was a member of the Cape Elizabeth Town Council, serving as its chairman for two one-year terms. He is also a former trustee of Westbrook College and the Waynflete School in Portland, and is a former director of the Portland Boys Club.

Before returning to the New Haven area, Woodsum lived in Cape Elizabeth, Maine with his wife, the former Joan Patterson. The Woodsums have four children, one of whom, daughter Lee, graduated from Yale in 1981.

Carm Cozza, Head Coach

Not even legendary Yale Coach Walter Camp posted as many victories as Yale's current Head Coach Carm Cozza, as Cozza marks his 27th year at Yale this fall and his 25th year at the helm of the winningest team in collegiate football history.

Cozza's 142 career victories — including nine Ivy League titles over the last quarter-century and three consecutive between 1979 and 1981 — place him 13th on the list of active Division I-A and I-AA coaches and first among all Yale coaches.

His winning coaching strategy garnered some of the finest awards given to college coaches. His records of 142-76-5 overall and 110-53-5 in Ivy League competitions include 15 finishes in the top three, and his 31-16-1 record against Harvard and Princeton was good for nine Big Three championships. Cozza holds a narrow 12-11-1 edge over Harvard in The Game, but has dominated Princeton, 19-5, including 14 straight victories prior to 1980.

Behind Cozza's success on the field, however, is his concern and affection for his players, his personal authenticity and brilliant organization, not to mention his paternal appearance and manner. Cozza, who served as Yale's athletics director in 1976-77 and associate director for five years prior to that, coached 19 players who were drafted by professional football teams. He has also coached three players who became Rhodes Scholars and eight who won NCAA post-graduate scholarships.

Cozza's countless coaching honors while at Yale include: The Joseph Sheehan Award as the New York Football Writers' Coach of the Year in 1981; Kodak District I Coach of the Year in 1967, 1968, 1974, 1979, 1980 and again in 1981; United Press International New England "Major College Coach of the Year" in 1967, 1974, 1979 and 1981; and Eastern Coach of the Year in 1981. In 1980, he was honored as the New England Coach of the Year and in 1981 he earned national Coach of the Week recognition following a win over Navy.

A long-time force in the American Football Coaches Association, Cozza served as President of the AFCA in 1978. He has coached in the East/West Shrine Game and the Blue-Gray Classic.

For his distinguished achievements since coming to Yale in 1963, Cozza received a Gold Key from the Connecticut Sports Writers Alliance, the same group that presented Yale with a special award of merit in 1982 for its contribution to collegiate football. The Walter Camp Football Foundation also presented him with the Gold Medal in recognition of his surpassing Camp's record.

Carmen Louis Cozza, 58, was born June 10, 1930, in the Cleveland suburb of Parma, Ohio. At Parma High School, where he was class president for three years, Cozza earned 11 varsity letters. He played three years of football, basketball and baseball, captaining basketball and baseball as a senior. He also competed in track for two seasons. In 1982, Cozza was inducted into the Parma Hall of Fame.

The wizard of Ivy football matriculated at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where he was one of the school's most distinguished athletes, winning three letters apiece in football and baseball before graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1952. On the gridiron, he played under Ara Parseghian and Woody Hayes, setting several Miami records as a defensive back. He also played offensively as a quarterback and a running back. In baseball, Cozza pitched and played the outfield. He posted a sparkling 1.50 earned run average and had a career batting mark of .388. As a senior and team captain, he pitched a no-hit game. Cozza played professionally in the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox organizations and also competed as a semi-pro in Minnesota.

Following graduation, he signed a baseball contract with Cleveland and returned to his alma mater in the off-season as a freshman backfield assistant coach. He then served as an assistant football, basketball and baseball coach at Gilmour (Ohio) Academy, spent a year at Collinwood (Ohio) High and then returned to Gilmour in 1955, leading them to a league title in his first year as head coach.

Cozza succeeded John Pont as a freshman football coach at Miami in 1956, when Pont moved up to the head job. Cozza held freshman coaching positions in football, basketball and baseball through 1960 and, in 1961, was elevated to Pont's varsity football staff. He was inducted into the Miami University Hall of Fame on February 14, 1970. Among those enshrined there are Parseghian, Paul Brown and Weeb Ewbank.

In Cozza's 24 years, Yale is:

- 142-76-5 overall (.648)
- 110-53-5 vs. Ivy (.670)
- 31-16-1 vs. Harvard/Princeton (.656)
- 32-23-0 vs. Non-League (.582)
- 2-4-0 vs. the Academies (.333)
- 97-42-1 at Yale Bowl (.696)
- 45-34-4 on the road (.583)

When Pont took the head coaching job at Yale in 1963, Cozza came with him as a backfield coach. On January 29, 1965, Cozza was named Yale's 32nd head football coach, succeeding Pont, who had resigned eight days earlier to become head coach at Indiana.

Cozza's first two years as head coach at Yale were trying ones. In 1967, however, Cozza launched a span of success that revitalized Yale football. The Bulldogs lost the opener in 1967, then ran off 16 consecutive victories before being tied by Harvard, 29-29, in the final game of the 1968 season. But Cozza, in one of his finest coaching jobs, guided the 1969 team to a share of the Ivy title once again, giving Yale the distinction of becoming the first team to have a hand in three straight Ivy titles.

Cozza's Yale teams finished lower than second just once from 1970-74 and, in 1974, his club gained a share of the Ivy title. The Elis also placed an unprecedented 10 men on the All-Ivy League first team. In 1976, Cozza directed the Elis to an 8-1 record and a share of the Ivy title. Yale registered a 6-1 league mark in 1977 and won Cozza's second undisputed Ivy championship.

Yale's 1980 team finished 8-2 and won a second consecutive undisputed Ivy title, featuring the UPI's New England Player of the Year, middle guard Kevin Czingier. Cozza's 1981 squad was named the ECAC Team of the Year and finished third behind Penn State and Pittsburgh in voting for the Lambert Trophy. For the second straight year, a Yale player — Rich Diana — was chosen UPI New England Player of the Year. Diana also earned a spot on the College Football Writers Association of America's first-team All-America squad.

A 23-19 upset of Navy and Yale's second consecutive shutout of Harvard (28-0), both in the Bowl, highlighted that 9-1 campaign. The 1981 team broke 21 Eli records and featured Yale's second all-time rusher, Diana; the No. 2 all-time passer, John Rogan; and the No. 2 all-time receiver, Curt Grieve, as well as a superior defense. When the NFL draft came along that spring, three Yale players were chosen in the first six rounds.

Cozza suffered through two losing seasons in 1982 and 1983 — only the fourth and fifth sub-.500 years of his Yale career.

In 1984, Cozza engineered a dramatic reversal that saw Yale win six of its last seven games, including stunning comeback victories over Princeton and Harvard. In the Bowl, Yale travelled 98 yards in the game's last 91 seconds without using a time-out to stun the Tigers, 27-24.

In 1971, Cozza assisted John Pont, who coached the East team in the East-West Shrine Game at Oakland. Two of Cozza's stars, Don Martin and Tom Neville, played in that game. In December, 1972, Cozza served as head coach of the East and led his team to a 9-3 victory over the West. The only touchdown in the game was scored by Yale's All-America halfback, Dick Jauron. And in the 1981 Blue-Gray game, record-breaking receiver Curt Grieve caught a touchdown pass. Jauron, Neville, Martin and Grieve are only four of the many outstanding players Cozza has coached at Yale. Calvin Hill, Brian Dowling, Rudy Green, Gary Fencik, John Pagliaro, John Spagnola, Rich Diana, Jeff Rohrer, John Rogan, and Kelly Ryan are just a few others on a lengthy list. As of June, four former Cozza pupils were on NFL veteran rosters: Spagnola '79 (Green Bay), Ken Hill '80 (NY Giants), Eugene Profit '86 (Washington), and Rohrer '82 (Dallas). Three players from the 1987 Yale team made it to NFL camps in the summer of 1988.

Cozza, who received a master's degree in education from Miami in 1959, takes a personal interest in the academic achievements of his players. He is proud to have coached eight players who have won NCAA post-graduate scholarships and the fact that in 23 years of coaching, all but six of his players have received their diplomas.

Another source of satisfaction for Cozza has been success achieved by seven of his Yale assistants. Bill Mallory (Indiana), Jim Root (William & Mary), Neil Putnam (Lafayette), Bill Narduzzi (Youngstown State), Buddy Amendola (Central Connecticut), Larry McElreavy (Columbia), and Bill Samko (University of the South) each ascended to head coaching positions after terms at Yale under Cozza.

A man whose most admired qualities include integrity, loyalty, efficiency, hard work and quiet good humor, Cozza has always demonstrated an ability to bring the best out of his squads. He has had great success in turning today's reserve into tomorrow's regular, saying "If you're a football player, you can't hide. We'll find you." A deft speaker with a low-key but direct approach, he is equally respected by players and coaches on both sides of the field.

Cozza and his wife, the former Jean Annable, reside in Orange, Conn. They have three daughters — Kristen (Mrs. David Powell), a licensed practical nurse, Kathryn (Mrs. Anthony Tutino), a graduate of Quinnipiac College; and Karen (Mrs. John Pollard), a graduate of the University of Connecticut, and two grandsons.

The Yale staff

JOE BENANTO

Joe Benanto came to Yale in 1979 as Yale's head baseball coach and immediately took on additional duties as an assistant coach to Harry Jacunski, head of the freshman football program. With Jacunski's retirement in 1981, Benanto assumed the position of head freshman coach. In eight seasons, he has led the Bullpups to a cumulative record of 35-12-1. He has known similar fortunes in baseball. In 1981 his team captured its first Eastern Intercollegiate League title since 1956, finishing the year 24-14-1. His baseball teams have now posted 20-win seasons in four of the past eight years. Benanto came to Yale from Shelton (CT) H.S., where he coached championship teams in baseball and basketball for many years. He is a former New England and Connecticut Baseball Coach of the Year. Benanto received a B.S. degree in Education from Southern Connecticut State College in 1960, and an M.S. in Administration at the University of Bridgeport in 1965. He and his wife, Lucille, and their two children live in Shelton.

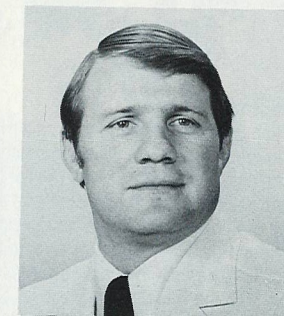

Freshman Coach

DAVE KELLEY

Dave Kelley joined the Yale staff in March, 1973 and was named defensive coordinator in 1982 after coaching the defensive line with great success for eight seasons. An assistant football coach at Allegheny College for two years prior to his arrival at Yale, Kelley is a native of Hamilton, N.Y. His father, Alva Kelley, served as head football coach at Colgate and Brown from 1951 to 1961 and faced Yale on the gridiron many times. Now 46, Dave Kelley was an outstanding athlete at the University of Massachusetts, where he played fullback as a sophomore and monster back his last two years. He was tabbed for All-Yankee Conference honors three times, All-New England honors twice, and All-East and honorable mention All-America honors as a senior. He played on two Yankee Conference championship teams, one of which went to the Tangerine Bowl in his junior year. In addition to winning three letters in football, Kelley garnered three apiece in lacrosse and wrestling. Dave and his wife, Barbara, have two children, Beth and David, who are currently attending Yale.

Defensive Line

SEB LaSPINA

Sebastian LaSpina is a 1958 graduate of Miami (O.) University, where he played guard under both John Pont and Ara Parseghian. He is the senior varsity assistant in terms of service and is embarking on his 25th season at Yale. As offensive coordinator, LaSpina directs the passing game and works closely with the ends. A native of Wickliffe, O., he lettered twice in football and three times in track at Miami and was the Mid-America Conference shot put champion. As a senior, he was an All-Conference football performer and won the Miami Watch Award of Cincinnati for football achievement. Following his graduation from Miami, the 53-year old LaSpina coached and taught at Charlotte (Mich.) H.S. In 1959-60, he completed work for a master's degree in education at Bowling Green and served as a graduate assistant under Doyt Perry. He also coached at Salem (O.) H.S. and Lakewood (O.) H.S. before joining the Yale staff. He and his wife, Mary Lou, the head of the economics department of Hamden High School, have two children. Their son, Michael, was a member of the 1986 Yale football team.

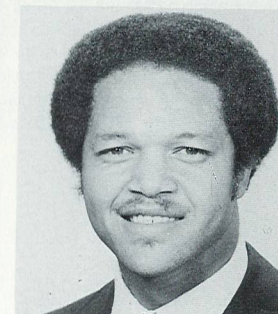

Offensive Coordinator

DON MARTIN

Don Martin is a 1971 graduate of Yale College, and was billed during his undergraduate days as the fastest man ever to play football at Yale. He was Yale's leading rusher in 1969, his first season as an offensive player, and was second to the great Dick Jauron in 1970. Also an outstanding member of the Yale track teams, Martin still holds the school record in the 200-yard dash. After his senior season with Yale football, Martin was drafted in the seventh round by the Oakland Raiders. During his three-year professional football career, he played defensive back for both the New England Patriots and the Kansas City Chiefs. Martin, who received honors in math and economics at Yale, holds an MBA from Stanford University and an M.A. in International Economics Development. Once known as the "Carrollton Comet," Martin hails from Carrollton, MO, and is an alumnus of Carrollton High School. At Yale, he also serves as an assistant track coach for both the men's and women's teams.

DON BROWNDefensive Coordinator/Defensive Backs

Don Brown was appointed to the Yale coaching staff in January, 1987 after serving as defensive coordinator and defensive backfield coach at Dartmouth, under Joe Yukica, for three years. He is responsible for the defensive backs at Yale. Brown's Big Green defensive secondary was ranked first in passing defense among NCAA Division I-AA teams in 1985 and fourth in 1984. In his second year with the Elis (1988), the Yale pass defense finished 12th in the country. The native of Spencer, MA began his coaching career at Hartford (VT) High School. After five years, he resigned his duties in 1982 to accept a part-time football coaching job at Dartmouth with primary responsibilities for outside linebackers. Brown, 33, graduated from Norwich University with a bachelor's degree in 1977. He was captain and MVP of the 1976 football team and also lettered in basketball. As a running back, Brown was an honorable mention All-New England selection after leading all New England Division I and II schools in scoring during the 1976 season. He and his wife, Deborah, and their three children live in Clinton.

RICHARD PONT*Offensive Backfield

Rich Pont is in his 22nd year as a member of the Eli coaching staff and during that time has developed many outstanding Yale backs. Pont's efforts have consistently given Yale the Ivy League's leading rusher. A 59-year old native of Canton, O., Pont was a halfback and most valuable player at Bowling Green, where he ranked as the second best single-season ground gainer when he graduated in 1952. After two years in military service, he went to Miami (O.) as a freshman football assistant. Starting in 1955, he was a teacher and an assistant coach at Sycamore H.S. in Cincinnati for five years. In 1960, he became the head coach at Steubenville (O.) Catholic Central High School and in eight years Pont's teams produced a record of 30-28-3. Among the players he coached were Eric France and Pat Madden, both of whom starred for Yale's 1967 unbeaten Ivy League champions. At Yale, he has coached the likes of Calvin Hill, Dick Jauron, and Rich Diana. Rich is the brother of John Pont, head coach at Yale in 1963-64. He and his wife, Sarah, have three daughters and a son.

ROBERT ESTOCK*Offensive Line

Bob Estock served as the offensive coordinator, as well as head wrestling coach, at Davidson College from 1979 to 1984 before joining the Yale staff in January of 1985. Prior to that, he was assistant football coach at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, CT for four seasons. Estock received a Bachelor of Science degree in Health and Physical Education from Colorado State University in 1968, and began his coaching career the following year at the University of Bridgeport. In 1970, he moved to Milford (CT) High School and then to the University of Connecticut as offensive line coach in 1972. He received an M.S. Degree from UConn in 1983. Estock returned to Milford as head football coach for three years before moving on to the Coast Guard Academy. Bob and his wife, Mary, reside in New Haven.

The 1989 Eli Outlook

The Eli Outlook

THE OFFENSE

Starters returning: 5 Starters lost: 6
1988 Ivy rank: (7th, 289 yards per game)

Graduation losses of six starters from the 1988 squad, including four on the offensive line, will challenge this unit in 1989. Yale loses two first-team All-Ivy linemen on the right side, tackle Art Kalman and guard Jeff Rudolph, along with left guard Joe DaSilva and left tackle Ron Lewis. The starting tight end and tailback are also gone from last year's team, but the returning talent has the potential to overcome the attrition.

Quarterback problems damaged Yale last season, yet 1989 should bring a corps of young signal callers who possess running and passing skills. These new arms should help the Bulldogs improve on their last-place 1988 league ranking (84.6/game).

OFFENSIVE LINE

The competition for starting roles is wide open after the graduation of four first-stringers. Many of the Eli linemen are as green as the Yale Bowl grass, but they will make up for the lack of experience with a strong work ethic and commitment.

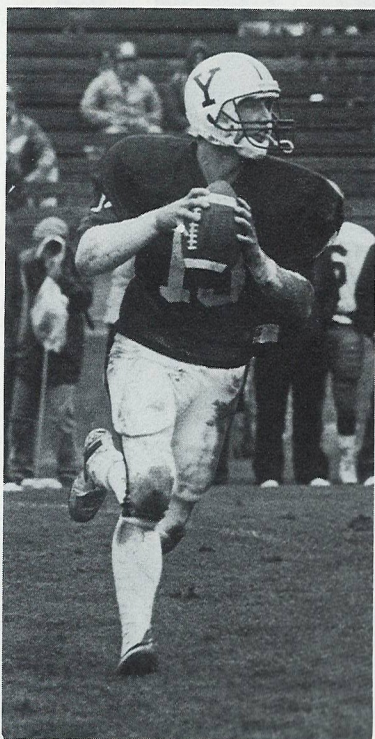

The leader and most seasoned player is senior center Mike Ciotti (6-1, 238), who returns as the only 1988 starter. The center position is a solid one because junior Mark Semlow (6-2, 240) will be looking for action.

Left guard Mark Eidemueller (6-2, 240) and tackle Erik Hilinski (6-1, 274) saw quality playing time last year and could step into starting positions. Eidemueller started several games last year in place of the injured DaSilva. Senior tackle Mike Morin (6-4, 243) and junior guard Chris Michalik (6-2, 207) will also challenge for time on the left side. On the right side, junior guard Vince Mooney (6-1, 225) and junior tackle Terrell Johnson (6-5, 260) will have an impact on the Yale line. Tackle Jason Pappas (6-2, 248), a senior with mostly j.v. experience, and junior tackle Joe JeBailey (6-1, 270) and sophomore guard Dave Russell (6-1, 269) should solidify the right side.

Other Elis who should be battling for playing time are senior guard Reuben Bueno (5-11, 224), junior guard Rob Michalik (6-2, 228), and at least seven members of the 1988 freshman team.

RECEIVERS

All of the prospects for the three pass-catching positions have yet to prove themselves. There were few opportunities to catch the ball in last year's troubled Yale passing game. It was a fullback who led the team in receptions in 1988.

Junior Darin Kehler

At split end, seniors Peter Caravella (6-2, 190), Stanley Edwards (5-10, 180) and Drew Brown (6-2, 170) combined for 12 catches last year and will fight for the starting job this season. Senior Reggie Sellars (6-0, 170), an ex-tailback, moves over to wing back after making four catches last fall. He will be joined at that position by senior Steve Provenzano (6-1, 180) and sophomore Adam Lenain (5-10, 155), who led the Bullpups with 18 receptions last year.

Tight end is Yale's strongest receiving position with four equally talented candidates looking for the top spot. Fifth-year senior Jim Griffin (6-3, 223, 7 catches for 89 yards), whose career has been slowed by injuries, shared playing time as the backup last season. Senior Paul Weitzel (6-2, 195) and junior Chris Warner (6-5, 225, 2-23) will also challenge for the job. All three had better be ready to compete with sophomore Peter Austin (6-3, 215), who caught six passes as the starting freshman tight end and is the fastest of the 1989 group.

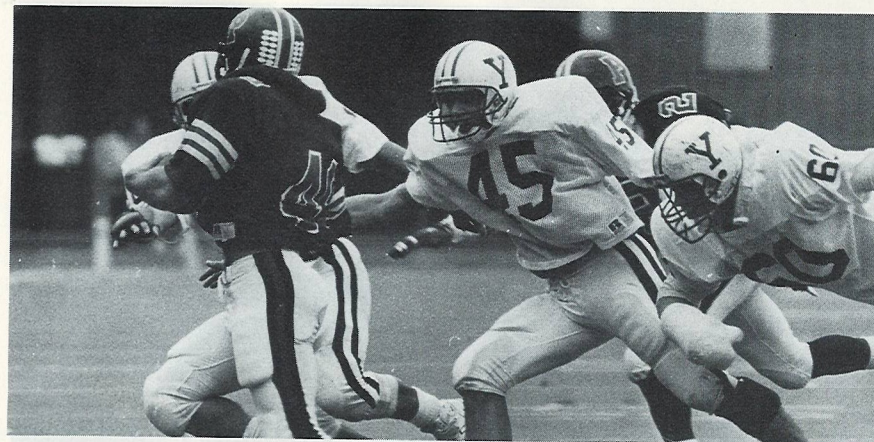

QUARTERBACKS

This is where the Bulldogs ran into trouble last year. Starter Bob Verduzco, who completed 14 of 25 passes, injured his knee in the first game at Brown and was lost for the season. Backup Mark Brubaker was hobbled by an ankle injury and couldn't run the offense effectively. Third-stringer John Furjanic joined the injured with an ankle sprain of his own after the UConn game.

Junior Darin Kehler (5-10, 175) answered Carm Cozza's call after beginning the fall in a baseball uniform. Kehler, who played defensive back and quarterback for the freshman team in 1987, played in the last seven games and completed 15 of 36 passes for 182 yards. He was fourth on the team with 239 rushing yards. In his first start against Dartmouth, Kehler ran 32 yards for a touchdown and earned Ivy Sophomore of the Week honors.

Verduzco (5-11, 175), who could only play one more year for the Elis, had surgery last fall and is currently rehabilitating the knee with hopes for 1990.

Sophomore Nick Crawford (6-1, 180), a transfer from Davidson College, is eligible to play varsity this year after leaving a school that is dropping its Division I status. Crawford, who also has good running skills (222 yards, 58 attempts), completed 19 of 47 passes as a part-time starter at Davidson last fall.

Four signal callers from the freshman team will also be in contention for varsity status. Paul Sullivan (6-3, 180) led the Bullpups in passing (28 of 59, 2 TDs) and may be the best of the young crop. Francis Greco (6-1, 185, 16 of 32), and Greg Bowman (6-1, 188) are the other sophomore quarterbacks.

RUNNING BACKS

The depth chart is not very deep here in terms of experience. All-Ivy pick Buddy Zachery and backup Kevin Brice, who alternated at tailback, hung up their uniforms. Zachery rushed for 820 yards in 1988. Only Kevin Callahan (5-11, 180), who played fullback last year but will likely move to tailback, saw regular varsity action in 1988. Callahan led the team with 16 catches while rushing for 331 yards (3.7 average), third best on the squad. He finished third in scoring with 24 points.

Junior fullback/tailback Scott Craven (6-2, 210), who has been hampered by injuries the last two years, should have an impact in the backfield this fall. Senior tailbacks Lyell Champagne (5-6, 155) and Craig Lareau (5-11, 185) and junior fullback Terence Cuneo (6-0, 200) do not have any varsity backfield experience but could challenge for playing time this year.

After missing most of his first two years with injuries, junior Dan Schmitt (5-10, 183) could move into a key role at running back. Also in the picture is a talented group of backs from the freshman team including fullback Chris Kouri (5-11, 190), who led the Bullpups with 432 yards, and running backs Maurice Saah (5-10, 165, 145 yards), Matt Fahrney (5-9, 180, 181), and Jim Gouveia (6-0, 180, 67) will compete for backfield action.

THE DEFENSE

Starters returning: 7 Starters lost: 4
1988 Ivy rank: (2nd, 297 yards per game)

The core of the 1988 Eli team was a solid defense. The Yale pass defense corps even finished the season ranked 12th in the nation.

The good news is that 16 of the 27 returning lettermen play on this side of the ball. This unit, which includes a second team All-Ivy pick and a pair of honorable mention selections, could be even better this year. A skilled group of experienced seniors, four of them two-year starters, return to bolster the Bulldog tackling troops.

Yale should be much faster and even more seasoned on defense this year, but only if the linebackers stay healthy.

The swarming Yale special teams, led by linebacker Mike Barry, held opponents to less than one yard per punt return last season. Barry has graduated, but the Bulldogs have much of the same talent back.

LINEBACKERS

The first unit will be as talented as any Bulldog team in the recent past. The problem is their lack of health and depth. For the past two seasons senior captain Jon Reese (5-11, 193) has finished second in total tackles behind 1988 captain and fellow inside linebacker Don Lund. Now it's Reese's turn to lead the team in tackles (he had 143 last year) and pep talks. The honorable mention All-Ivy pick is one of six linebackers fighting for the four starting positions.

Senior Tom O'Brien (6-4, 225) will have a key role this fall. O'Brien (42 tackles) had injuries deflate his playing time in 1988. He started several games last year at defensive tackle when injuries struck the line. Junior Chris Gaughan (6-2, 210) and sophomore Craig Vickery (6-1, 195) will battle for starting jobs. Junior Mike Browne (6-4, 213), who made 30 tackles as a lineman in 1987, is back as a linebacker after a year off.

Other candidates for playing time at this position are juniors Jason Turner (5-11, 200) and Terrance Moran (6-1, 200) and sophomores Greg Hammer (6-2, 200, top frosh tackler), Kevin Skol (6-0, 198), Darryl Simchak (6-1, 195), and Matt Garretson (6-2, 212).

DEFENSIVE LINE

Three 1988 regulars, who have the ability to play any of the front spots, form the nucleus of the line this season. Seniors Glover Lawrence (6-5, 250), Scott Wollam (6-4, 230), and Bruce Bottorff (5-11, 209) should be the mainstays of this unit. Lawrence is a certain All-League candidate who led all linemen with 68 tackles last year. Bottorff (38 tackles) is the smallest of the Yale linemen. Wollam (26), second on the team with 3.5 sacks last year, is one of the top pass rushers on the team.

Senior Rich Lee (6-4, 245) and sophomores Carmine Perrelli (6-4, 270) and Jeff Gromlowicz (6-0, 237) are also among the top choices for starting jobs. Gromlowicz was considered to be the best tackle on last year's freshman squad.

Junior Bob Batick (6-3, 215) and sophomores Chanse Jones (5-11, 235) and Rich Torkian (6-4, 223) will add depth to the line. Jones owns the top bench (358) and squat (572) lift marks on the team.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Experience and speed best characterize this area, probably the strongest element of the Yale team going into the season. Six standout seniors and a host of talented prospects provide depth and healthy competition for 1989.

Senior cornerback Rich Huff (5-11, 167), a second team All-Ivy pick with 72 tackles, and senior safety Chris Brown (6-0, 170) are the cream of the crop. Brown led the team with three interceptions, including two against Harvard. The six seniors in the backfield have been playing together regularly since freshman year. Monster Brian Hennen (6-0, 190), who scored on a blocked punt at Harvard, and halfback Bob Stokes (6-1, 177) should round out the starting four.

Classmates Chris Rutan (6-1, 180) and Jim Parsons (5-11, 170) combined for 45 tackles in 1988 and may win starting jobs this fall at various positions. A back injury to monster Steve Essick, who would be playing his senior season, ended his heroic Yale career prior to the Princeton game.

Junior John Furjanic moved from quarterback to defensive back and may play monster this year. Other prospects include seniors Bob Bennett (5-9, 170), the strongest of the defensive backs, and Bob Bigelow (6-0, 186), junior Joe Jackson (5-11, 185), and sophomores Eric Drury (6-2, 180), Martin Smith (6-0, 170), and Nick Corbo (6-1, 190). Junior Tom Kearney (5-11, 195) may also figure here.

KICKERS

The placekicking chores become more difficult with the new NCAA rule banning tees for field goals and extra points. They will likely be handled by sophomore Ed Perks (6-0, 155), who booted a freshman record 43-yarder for the Bulldogs last year. Perks, who booted eight field goals for the freshman team last year, gives the Bulldogs long-range kicking for the first time in many seasons. In high school he nailed several over 50 yards. Junior Charles Wennogle (5-11, 175) and sophomore Franklin Brannen (5-7, 137) will also battle for the top job.

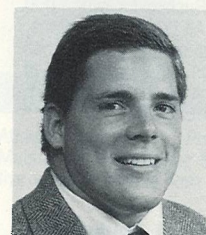

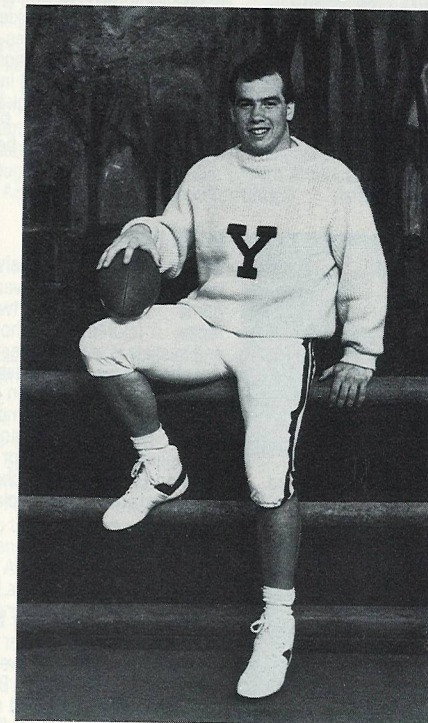

The Bulldogs also graduated their starting punter, Todd Cowan, in 1988. Sophomore quarterback candidate Greg Bowman, who owned a 34.9 average for the Bulldogs, may have the inside track. Junior Craig Lareau (5-11, 185) punted for the j.v. squad last year and could move up in 1989. Last year, Lance French (6-1, 200) attempted one punt and rocketed it 57 yards. French left the team in mid season as the backup. If he returns for his junior campaign this fall, Yale could have its best kicking game ever.

The 1988 Season

The 1988 Season Review (3-6-1 Overall, 3-3-1 Ivy)

The 1988 Eli squad found an already tough schedule even tougher after losing eight offensive starters from the powerful 1987 team.

The season began with a 24-24 deadlock with Brown, a game which saw Yale lose starting QB Bob Verduzco for the season with torn knee ligaments. His loss was felt immediately, as Yale managed just 135 yards passing with four sacks and four interceptions in a 41-0 home loss to UConn the following week. The Elis were hurting at QB without their number one; the second string caller Mark Brubaker was injured but playing and the third man also had a leg injury.

Facing the wishbone against Navy and Army, the Bulldogs gave up 835 yards on the ground the next two weeks. The Middies scored three times in six minutes in the second quarter for a 41-7 win at Annapolis. Yale scored 15 points in the fourth quarter, thanks to the 105-yard day by TB Buddy Zachery, but dropped a 33-18 game to Army at the Bowl.

Sandwiching victories over Columbia (24-10) and Dartmouth (22-13) around a 10-3 loss to Penn, Yale improved its record to 2-4-1 and still had a shot at the Ivy title thanks to the tireless defense. Zachery continued to carry the offense with 413 yards in the three games, including a 174-yard effort against the Big Green. Sophomore Darin Kehler had assumed QB duties by the Dartmouth game, having been requisitioned from the Eli baseball team by Carm Cozza after the season opener.

Despite winning just two of their first seven games, the Elis visited Cornell with an outside shot at the title. The Big Red held Yale to 100 yards of offense in a 20-mph wind and prevailed, 26-0.

Princeton was not any kinder to Yale in New Haven the next Saturday, handing the Bulldogs a 24-7 defeat. The Yale day was typified by a 50-yard scoring toss from Brubaker to WR Pete Caravella that was called back by a holding penalty.

The (105th) Game salvaged a disappointing season. Yale completed only three passes for 31 yards, but followed strong groundwork by Zachery (97 yards) and RB Kevin Brice (98) for 271 total rushing yards and a 26-17 victory.

The Heritage

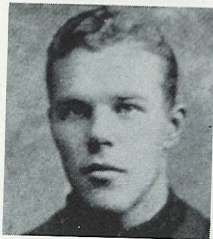

Walter Camp

AMOS ALONZO STAGG

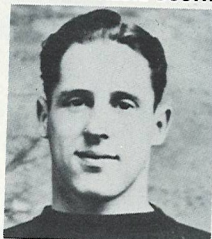

TED COY

CENTURY A. MILSTEAD

ALBIE BOOTH

In many ways, American football as we know it began at Yale, primarily in the person of Walter Camp. Camp's fertile, creative mind was the driving force behind the reshaping of many of the doctrines of what was essentially English rugby into American football. There were many stages in the evolutionary process, and a number of people had important hands in the mix, but Camp provided the imaginative elan which ultimately proved to be the critical catalyst in the formation of football's basic rules and philosophies.

The American Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee credits Camp with playing in the first game of "Rugby Football" in 1876 at Yale. In a tribute to Camp upon his death in 1925 the Rules Committee went on to say that "from 1876 until 1910, when he retired from active participation in directing the strategy of Yale football, he was the outstanding leader in the development of playing techniques and strategy of the game."

The accomplishments of Camp, the player, and Camp, the coach, are legendary. A two-time captain for the Bulldogs (1878 and 1879), Camp played on teams which compiled a 36-1-5 record. As a coach, his feats were just as remarkable. He guided his teams to an incredible 67-2 record for a winning percentage of .971.

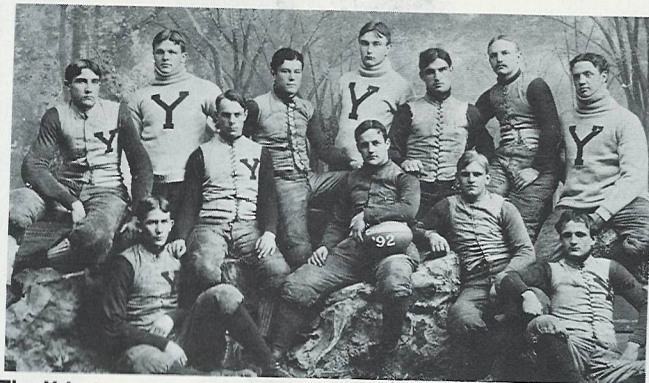

Camp's vast wealth of innovation helped inspire many of his players also to join the coaching ranks and the Yale influence was felt throughout the entire country. Yale provided the first football coaches at Stanford, Duke, Army, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Dartmouth, Washington, Lehigh, Chicago, Springfield, and California.

From 1879 until 1925 Camp was a member of every football rules convention and Rules Committee. During that period and literally up to the hour of his death (Camp died in his sleep during an over-night intermission between sessions of the 1925 Rules Committee meetings), he was the acknowledged leader in the evolution of the game throughout the framing of its playing rules.

Among other innovations, Camp is credited with introducing the concepts of the play from scrimmage, the use of a quarterback, set plays, the forward pass, and first downs. In addition, he was responsible for selecting the first All-America team. Today, the Walter Camp Football Foundation perpetuates Camp's memory by, among other things, the annual selection of the prestigious Walter Camp All-America teams.

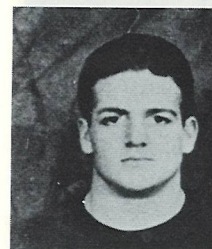

For nearly four decades after that first game of "Rugby Football" in 1876, Yale was the colossus of American football. Offenses and defenses were inspired by or copied from Yale, from the trap play to the "Notre Dame Shift." Knute Rockne, when asked where the shift originated, is alleged to have replied "Where everything else in football came from — Yale!"

Throughout the decades Yale has won more games (746), scored more points (22,427), produced more All-Americans (116), and placed more men in the football Hall of Fame (26) than any other college in America. In addition, Yale has outscored its opponents by nearly 14,000 points.

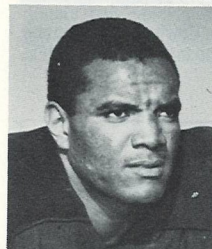

The Yale team of 1892, coached by Walter Camp, went 13-0 and outscored its opponents, 435-0.

There have been many memorable Yale teams. The 1888 squad was 13-0 and outscored its opponents by an aggregate count of 698-0. The 1900 "Team of the Century," led by four-time All-American Gordon Brown, finished 12-0. The 1909 team, led by the incomparable Ted Coy, was also undefeated (10-0) and claimed the national championship. The 1923 team, led by All-Americans Bill Mallory and Century Milstead and considered by many to be the greatest Yale eleven, was 8-0 and it too earned a share of the national title. In more recent years, the undefeated and untied 1960 squad secured a place along-side the all time great Yale teams, while the colorful Brian Dowling-Calvin Hill Ivy League championship teams of 1967 and 1968 added richly to the aura of Yale football. In all, Yale has recorded 31 undefeated seasons in 116 years of football and has won 11 Ivy League championships since the beginning of formal league play in 1956.

Naturally any partial listing of Yale's football heroes doesn't do justice to the many immortals who have donned the Blue. Among the greatest of the great were Amos Alonzo Stagg ('88) and Pudge Heffelfinger ('91S), Yale's earliest All-Americans; Frank Hinkey ('92), an All-American for four seasons who was labeled by Pop Warner as the greatest football player of all time; Ted Coy ('10), a wondrous player who received the kind of idolatry that is reserved for the game's truly great performers; Albie Booth ('32), Yale's "Little Boy Blue" who captured the imaginations of fans, journalists and opposing players with his effervescence; Larry Kelley ('37) and Clint Frank ('38), another pair of All-Americans who won back-to-back Heisman Trophies; Calvin Hill ('69), who went on to have an outstanding career with the Dallas Cowboys in the NFL; Brian Dowling ('69), a folk hero who became almost larger than life; Gary Fencik ('76), an All-Pro safety with the Chicago Bears; and record-setting backs Dick Jauron ('73), John Pagliaro ('78) and Rich Diana ('82).

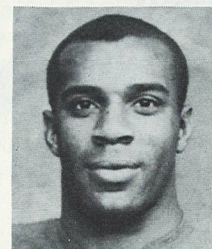

Throughout the decades Yale football has provided a breeding ground for legends that have distinguished Yale as a paragon of gridiron glory. From the innovative genius of Walter Camp to the consummate class of Carmen Cozza; from the inspirational clarion calls of T.A.D. Jones ("Gentlemen," he once told his assembled team, "you are about to play Harvard. Never in your life will you do anything so important.") to the irrepressible charm of Herman Hickman; from the heroic (albeit fictional) deeds of Frank Merriwell to the immortal (and real-life) exploits of Dowling; from the dashing brilliance of Levi Jackson, the local hero from New Haven's Hillhouse High School, to the dominating presence of Diana, another favorite son from nearby Hamden; and from the Yale Bowl's grand opening day crowd of 71,000 for the Harvard game in 1914 to the throng of 70,097 fans who watched the same two teams in their 100th meeting in 1983 at the Bowl; Yale football continues to embrace a tradition that will forever keep its coffers filled with heroes and champions.

Whenever people investigate the origins of football tradition; when they talk about the all-time great teams and players that have dominated college football through the years, they inevitably refer back to the place where everything in football came from — Yale.

Yale Heisman Trophy Winners

Clint Frank (left) and Larry Kelley (right) returned to Yale in 1981 to donate their Heisman Trophies to the University. Frank, a back, won the Heisman in 1937; Kelley, an end, won the 1936 Heisman.

Larry Kelley '37 and Clint Frank '38, the first two players from the same college to win back-to-back Heisman Trophies, returned to Yale in 1981 to donate their Trophies to the University.

Frank presented his trophy to former Yale President A. Bartlett Giamatti, saying: "If just one of these outstanding young people of Yale passes one of these trophies and says 'I'm going to be the best in the country in some pursuit, then our objective in giving these to Yale has been well served'."

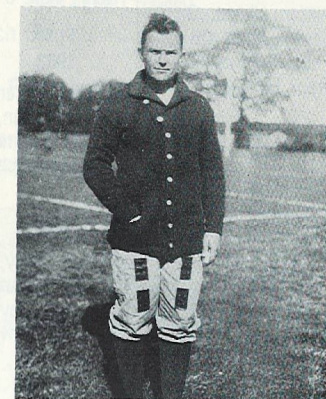

Giamatti responded: "You could no more separate yourselves from your little friends than you could ever separate yourselves from Yale."

A Rich Academic Tradition

Besides the accomplishments Yale has known on the gridiron since it began playing football in 1872, the University is particularly proud of the academic achievement many of its student-athletes have enjoyed. Three Yale football players in the past 17 years have been named Rhodes Scholars — Tom Neville, Class of 1971, Bill Crowley, Class of 1978 and Roosevelt Thompson, Class of 1984.

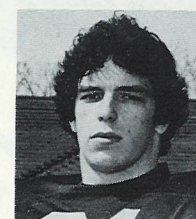

Neville was the recipient of an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship following his senior year at Yale and was also awarded a Rhodes Scholarship. Crowley, in addition to duplicating those two honors, was also named as a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete in 1978 and was selected to the CoSIDA First Team Academic All-America squad that year as well. Thompson, extremely active and highly respected in the Yale community, received a Rhodes Scholarship in December, 1983. Tragically, three months later he was killed in an automobile accident while returning to Yale after spring vacation.

The academic records of Crowley, Neville and Thompson symbolize the high standards of excellence, leadership and athletic ability that have been as characteristic of the Yale football program as the propensity for winning.

The New Yale Varsity Weight Room

Yale has vaulted to the top of the Ivy League in weight training recently with the opening of its bright, spacious new varsity weight room in Payne Whitney Gymnasium.

The state-of-the-art facility houses Nautilus machines, free weights, stationary bikes, and aerobic equipment, giving Yale the newest and most complete training center in the league. The variety of machinery helps keep Yale athletes from getting bored, allowing them to work on the same body parts with different exercises. The variety also helps prevent injuries while the athletes gain strength and flexibility.

Many weight rooms look like dungeons, but at Yale the sun shines through the glass ceiling onto walls painted in Yale blue and white.

The new room opened in December 1988. It was renovated and equipped in honor of Quentin I. Smith '29 through a gift from his family.

WEIGHT ROOM FEATURES

- 3,300 square feet.
- Wall-to-wall double-density rubber floor.
- 6,000 pounds of free weights.
- Full range of Nautilus equipment.
- Solar and electric lighting.
- Balcony with aerobic equipment and a Nordic Trac.
- 24-foot-high glass ceiling.
- 32 feet of mirrors.

Handsome Dan — a legacy continues

There is someone at Yale who is revered by tradition and yet remains as much a fixture in the hearts of the current generation of Blues as any in the past. He easily relates with students who, though admiring, are never in awe of him. An avid supporter of Yale football, he has rarely missed a game at the Yale Bowl.

The individual in question is none other than Handsome Dan, the mascot of the Yale Bulldogs. Entering his 100th year on the scene, this canine celebrity remains a solid fixture in Yale's football tradition.

The original Handsome Dan came to Yale in 1889 and enjoyed a ten-year tenure. He was a magnificent specimen whose splendid face helped him win numerous awards among his breed. Today his stuffed body is in a sealed glass case which ordinarily resides in the trophy room of Yale's Payne Whitney Gymnasium.

In all there have been 13 Handsome Dons. The present edition, Handsome Dan XIII (or Maurice as his owner knows him), begins his fifth football season this fall after having been instated in 1984. Maurice succeeds Handsome Dan XII (Bingo), the first and only female in the chain, who took early retirement having reigned since 1975.

Handsome Dan XIII was donated to Yale by Mrs. Edward Curtis, in the memory of her father, Arthur C. Keller, Yale Class of 1925.

In spite of the occasional glamour and acclaim, life has not always been easy for Yale's bulldogs. Handsome Dan II, for instance, was dognapped by Harvard students in 1934 on the eve of the Harvard-Yale football game. Handsome Dan VI arrived on the Yale scene as a mere pup and survived only two years. He died while wintering in Florida during recovery from the alleged trauma of witnessing defeats to both Harvard and Princeton in the same season. Handsome Dan IX nearly perished in the Housatonic River while attending a crew race in 1954.

A more typical tenure, however, was the one enjoyed by Handsome Dan V, who thoroughly enjoyed his role at the Bowl and was famous for his stage presence. In response to the roar of crowds he would prance proudly and cavort joyously along the sidelines.

One of the most physically impressive Handsome Dons was Handsome Dan X, who assumed his duties in 1959 as a robust 74-pounder and enjoyed a 10-year reign. This fawn-colored canine was affectionately nicknamed Boodnick (beatnick bulldog).

Frequent requests at Yale for photos and even autographs of Handsome Dan attest that his popularity is as great as ever.
